

2009 HAAGEN-SMIT CLEAN AIR AWARDS

Background

The California Air Resources Board (ARB) annually recognizes and honors outstanding individuals who have made significant contributions toward improving air quality through their lifetime commitment, perseverance, leadership, and innovation, in areas of science, policy, technology, public education, or community service. Previous recipients of the Haagen-Smit Clean Air Award have been selected for their major impact on the way air pollution research is conducted, how air pollution control strategies are formulated, for leading the efforts to set environmental policies, and for their dedication to clean air advocacy. To read more about past winners of the Haagen-Smit Clean Air Awards, go to <http://www.arb.ca.gov/research/hsawards/hsawards.htm>.

The 2009 award recipients will be presented the Clean Air Award at ARB's Board Meeting scheduled for December 9, 2009, at the California Environmental Protection Agency building in Sacramento.

Selection Process

Nominations for the award will be reviewed by the Haagen-Smit Clean Air Award Selection Committee. The Committee will make the final selection of the 2009 award recipients.
